Did You Know? On top of a high hill near Viking stand the only Ribstones in Alberta that have not been moved since ancient times. Ribstones, also known as Boulder Petroglyphs, are two large stones carved in the shape of an animal's rib cage. These ancient monuments have remained in place just a few kilometers from Viking, Alberta for thousands of years and are one of only nine in the province.

Hidden Gems!

Viking Tea House & Station Gallery: Located in the original CN Station, which still sees an active Via Rail passenger train pass through, is a seasonal tea house and art gallery. They feature original art from local artists, along with a collection of original Scandinavian Rosemaling items. Next to the station is the beautiful Viking Troll Park featuring a Viking ship and Troll Mountain sculpture.

Viking & District Museum: Converted from Viking's first hospital (1922), the museum documents Viking's rich history dating back to the first Scandinavian settlers. The site includes many historical buildings brought together to emulate the old days, giving visitors a true sense of the spirit of Viking.
