

The landscape of healthcare in rural Alberta

Population, Variation, and Retention

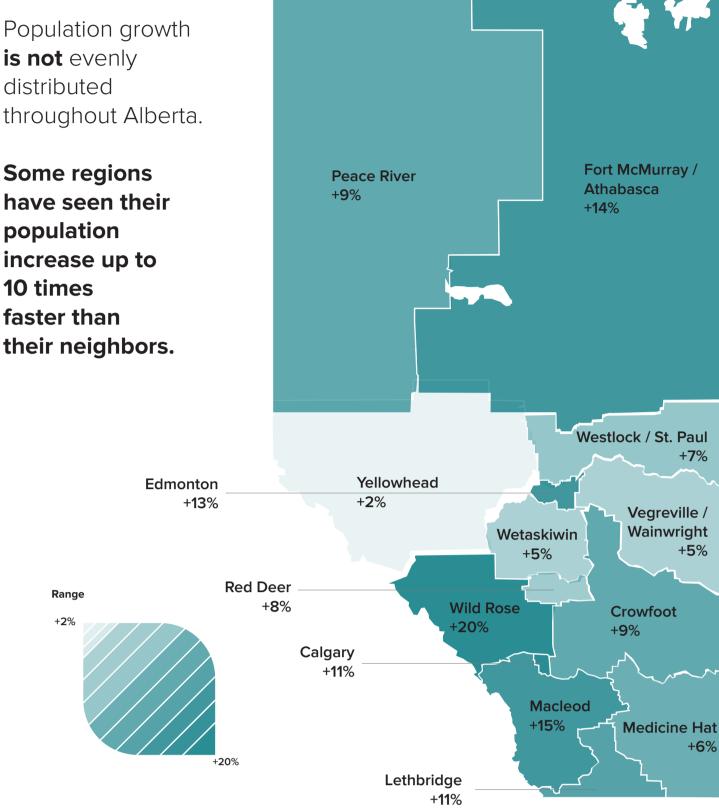

Alberta's population is one of the fastest growing in the country, driving the need for more physicians across the province.

Population growth between census (2006-2011)

is not evenly distributed throughout Alberta.

have seen their population increase up to 10 times faster than their neighbors.

5 Year District Physician Retention (2009-2014)

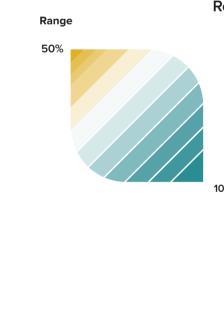

each region's capacity to retain its physicians. Some areas of Alberta face greater

The need for

is influenced by physicians

challenges when it comes to keeping physicians within their communities. Edmonton

A region with strong

86%

+9.3%

+4.6%

Vegreville / Wainwright

Medicine Hat

+9.4%

Crowfoot

+5.6%

population growth and a relatively lower retention figure can result in an overall Fort McMurray / Peace River decrease in the Athabasca +1.5% -1.3% number of physicians available for each inhabitant, despite strong efforts geared towards attracting new physicians to the area. Westlock / St. Paul Yellowhead Edmonton +16.0% +7.2% Wetaskiwin +4.7% Red Deer Range +13.0% Wild Rose +2.3% -9.9% Calgary +18.8% Macleod -9.9%

RPAP

RPAP | Health Workforce for Alberta supports Alberta's rural practitioners, their families and communities in improving the quality of rural health care by offering comprehensive, integrated initiatives to enhance rural medical services, education, attraction, recruitment, and retention.

Lethbridge +7.9%

Learn more about the landscape of healthcare in rural Alberta.

Visit www.rpap.ab.ca/Landscape2014

Contact RPAP Research & Analysis at 780-423-9911 or email: info@rpap.ab.ca.

The areas shown are derived from current Federal Electoral Districts boundaries.